Supplements in Livestock Feeding

Proper use of protein and vitamin supplements can add profit to the feeding of livestock. The general idea is that stock can make out all right with straw and water. It has been well proven that best and most economical gains are made when good roughage, good grain and proper mineral and vitamin supplements are fed, and there is access to plenty of clear water at all times. The most important minerals can be provided in the form of limestone, bone-meal and salt. These can be mixed in equal proportions and put out in a box where stock can take them as they wish. Vitamin A is the most important and can be obtained in pelleted form and mixed with the grain.

In the case of pigs, a protein supplement should also be fed and the vitamin A is best given in the form of fish oil.

Trolene for Warbles

This is a new product which is given to cattle in the form of pills or boluses for warble control. Under test conditions it has given good results. It is more expensive than spraying and each animal must be handled individually, but to compensate for this, the warbles are killed before they harm the animal instead of afterwards. Trolene must not be given to animals within sixty days of slaughter, nor to mix cows. The correct directions for use and any precautions to be taken at the same time you get the pills. This should be in written form so that you can refer to it at home.

Watch for Rats

This warning is often repeated, but it is important. The only way to keep rats under control is for everyone to be on the lookout. Don't be afraid to call your Rat Control Officer; if you suspect rats, DO keep bait stations and poison out if you are in the first two ranges west of the meridian.

Southern Sayings

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Swainson, Gail and Garry of Sedgewick, visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Jackson last Sunday.

Egg Producers Urged to Mail Ballot Forms Promptly

The Alberta Federation of Agriculture urges all poultry producers to mark and return their ballot for the proposed Egg Marketing Plan.

Ballots have been, or are now being, mailed to all registered producers having 20 or more laying hens. The ballot is supplied with a self-addressed, postage paid return envelope. All that is required of the producer is to mark his ballot for or against the proposed Plan and mail.

The Federation takes the stand that all producers receiving a ballot should vote. Before the Plan can become operative it must secure a 51% favorable vote of all registered producers. This simply means that all ballots not returned constitute a vote against the Plan.

Farm organizations for many years through their annual meetings have urged the establishment of a marketing board for egg products. It was not until 1955 that necessary legislation was made available which would permit the operation of marketing boards in Alberta. If the marketing board principle is rejected at this time it could well delay any improvement in the marketing of egg products for many years to come.

Shower Held For Miss D. Simmermon

The Irma Ladies' Choir sponsored a bountiful bridal shower in the United church hall on Wednesday evening, Nov. 19 in honor of Miss Doreen Simmermon whose marriage took place on Saturday last.

The room was suitably decorated with pink and white wedding bells and streamers and was centered by a "wishing well."

Mrs. R. C. McFarland was mistress of ceremonies and escorted the bride-to-be with her mother, Mrs. R. L. Simmermon and her aunt, Mrs. Ernest Simmermon, to the table of honor behind the long table loaded with gifts.

Then the following program was enjoyed. Two numbers by the choir, the first of these was "The Lord's Prayer" sung by Mrs. R. C. McFarland. A piano solo by Miss Isabel Ingalls and two contests conducted by Mrs. P. Jack and Mrs. C. Anquist. Then Miss Elaine Jack and Isabel Ingalls, dressed as nurses, brought in a stretcher. They were accompanied by Mrs. Alma Enger who gave a humorous reading entitled, "What Is a Nurse?" and the answer to that little question proved to be "An Angel with Sore Feet."

Doreen was then asked to examine the patient on the stretcher which was found to be an ensemble of shower gifts. Assisting her in opening her presents were two old school friends, Mrs. L. Golka, the former Charlotte Milne and Mrs. Elmer Helm, the former Dickie Rohrer.

When the contents of all these shower parcels had been thoroughly admired and Doreen had expressed her most sincere thanks, a bountiful lunch was served by the hostesses.

"Twilight Hour" Cancelled

On Saturday evening sad news, which caused the cancellation of the "Twilight Hour," arrived in Irma. According to plans, three evenings of a Technicolor picture parade with "Uncle Joe" Gallop were scheduled to be held in the Alliance Church. However, on Saturday night Uncle Joe received a phone call from Vancouver to say that his six-year-old daughter, Linda, had been seriously injured when a tree, which was being felled by some workmen at the Burrard Inlet Bible Camp, where Mr. Gallop is director, fell on her. Linda, unconscious, hospitalized with concussion of the brain, a broken leg and pelvis, was not expected to live. Surely much graver is with the Gallop family at this time.

Mr. Gallop announced on his hasty departure that he planned to return to this province after the New Year and that he would conduct the three-day program then. Further details will be announced in the Times.

Weekly Inspirational Corner

(Sponsored by an Irma Times reader)

Whoever believeth that Jesus is the Christ is born of God; and every one that loveth him that begat loveth him also that is begotten of him.

By this we know that we love the children of God, when we love God, and keep his commandments.

For this the love of God, that we keep his commandments; and his commandments are not grievous.

For whatsoever is born of God overcometh the world; and this is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith.

Who is he that overcometh the world, but he that believeth that Jesus is the Son of God? faith.

Federal Bank Lowers Industrial Loan Rate

OTTAWA — Both Canada and the United States are swinging back to the "easy money" road, convinced they have conquered inflation and now are ready to support another economic upswing.

"High federal financial and monetary authorities" advised that interpretation on the moves of the Bank of Canada and the U.S. Federal Reserve Board to reduce their interest rates.

Further evidence of "tight money" dismantling came Friday night when the Crown-owned Industrial Development Bank reduced its lending rate to six per cent from the high of 6½ which prevailed for the last 14 months. Other financial institutions are expected to trim their peak rates soon.

This bank, a subsidiary of the Bank of Canada, has increased its loans to small and medium businesses by some $20,000,000 in the last year. Outstanding loans now reach $72,000,000.

Authorities claimed that Canada took the lead in battering down some of the rigors of a tight-money policy that discouraged borrowing and dampened business spirits.

The Canadian central bank started reducing its record 4.33-per-cent rate last September, by which time the move apparently caught Wall Street by surprise. Stocks rose in the U.S., Canada and Britain.

The U.S. interest rate drop was warmly welcomed by Canadian authorities. They predicted the Canadian economic decline would be moderated this winter and a sharp upsurge would start next spring.

Thursday night the U.S. reserve board took a more spectacular step, reducing its rate in four of 12 districts to three per cent, down one-half per cent.

The move apparently caught Wall Street by surprise. Stocks rose in the U.S., Canada and Britain.

The U.S. interest rate drop was warmly welcomed by Canadian authorities. They predicted the Canadian economic decline would be moderated this winter and a sharp upsurge would start next spring.

Lunch was served and the meeting adjourned.

The next meeting will be on Monday, December 9th.

Good News For Old Age Pensioners

Eligible old age and blind pensioners in Alberta may anticipate no delay in payment of the nine-dollar increase to $55 in basic pensions which went into effect across Canada November 1. Efforts are being made to have upward adjustments included in November cheques, by which will be mailed during the latter part of the month. It was announced this week by Hon. R. D. Jorgenson, Minister of Public Welfare.

New pensioners who became eligible through easing of residence requirements should also be included in November payments. Additions to the list of pensioners and adjustments which cannot be processed before the end of this month will be carried over for payment shortly after the middle of December.

Widows' Pensions and Disabled Persons' Pensions paid entirely by the province are also raised by nine dollars. Increased pensions in other categories are still shared equally by the federal and provincial governments.

Overall increases in basic pensions will cost the provincial treasury an estimated $1,450,000 per year. From now to the end of the current fiscal year, March 31, 1958, the cost is placed at $600,000.

Bill Lawson, Charlie and Milt Younker, Archie Cook, Bill Dootson, Eldon and Stuart Penton, are taking part in the Wainwright bospital this week.

Mrs. R. Dempsey and Ronnie accompanied Mr. and Mrs. G. Pedal to Edmonton for the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Taylor were city visitors the first of the week.

The weather man did his best to make it unpleasant for Mr. Veer's sale by dumping snow down this way most of the day.

Mr. and Mrs. N. Willerton and Ruby are down east, planning to take in the Grey Cup game. In the meantime they are visiting relatives in Quebec.

Miss Norma Willerton has been staying in town with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. G. Prosser, while her parents are away.

Community hall fund raising schemes outlined at meeting

A finance committee to be in charge of fund-raising schemes for the Unity Community hall was formed last week, consisting of the following: Chairman, E. L. Brathen; vice-chairman, Walter Code; secretary, R. Thomas; executive, M. Miller, J. Jiggins and K. Krips. Grant Reid was elected treasurer for all Community Hall affairs.

The committee has already launched two projects and is considering another. "Play At Home Bingo", has been organized and cards may be obtained from any of the following committee members: B. Carson, D. Robertson, W. Eckart, C. Kliehn, R. Allen and B. Skene.

A pool on the Grey Cup Football game has been organized under the management of J. Jiggins. You can make your guess of the score in any quarter of the game at the Co-op store for 25 cents. Prizes for the first quarter of the game will be $5; 2nd and third quarters $10.00 and fourth quarter $100.00. In case of overtime $100.00 will be split between the fourth quarter and overtime winners.

A committee has also been formed to look into the possibility of holding a radio Amateur Night this fall. Anyone wishing to give their support to the evening of entertainment should contact one of the following: C. Simpson, K. Krips, R. Rooney, M. Miller, J.

BUILDING COSTS UP

Previous estimates that higher labor costs alone, are going to raise construction costs as much as 2 1/2 per cent this year may have to be revised upward. Construction price tags already are being prodded higher by wages although many increases have been temporarily absorbed. Full impact will come next spring.

Nine-hole golf course for Unity

After many months of inquiring as to the possibilities of Unity having its own golf course, it became a reality last Wednesday evening, when interested golfers met to form a club.

Fifteen prospective golfers turned out for the meeting. At the first meeting held there in the neighborhood of thirty out.

The nine-hole golf course will be located approximately one mile east of Unity. It was pointed out at the meeting that approximately $500.00 would have to be raised this fall to enable a start being made on the course. On Monday evening the executive of the club met and the different ways of financing the club were discussed. It was decided that the club would sell shares at a cost of $10.00 per unit. By arriving at this figure the executive felt that there would be some who might purchase a quantity of these shares, while leaving the way open for the little fellows to help too. A discussion of some length took place as to how these shares were to be repaid. It was decided that those buying shares in the club would have their annual dues lowered to a point where it would be profitable for all golfers to buy shares in Unity's new golf club. —The Courier-Herald, Unity, Sask., October 2, 1957.

Souris River water sharing plan proposed

Certain interim measures of apportionment of water of the Souris River among Saskatchewan, Manitoba and North Dakota have been recommended by the International Joint Commission, according to a statement issued simultaneously in Ottawa and Washington on Monday.

The joint report made by the Commission to the two governments recommended the interim apportionment of the water and it is expected that early action will be taken to put the recommendations into effect.

The executive of the Commission held their semi-annual meeting at Ottawa last week.

Referring particularly to the Estevan area, the Commission worked out a new proposal on use of Souris River water at the request of the Saskatchewan government.

The Saskatchewan government's interest is concerned over an adequate water supply for the $40,000,000 steam-powered electric generating plant south of Estevan.

The Commission's proposal has been forwarded to the governments of Saskatchewan, Manitoba and North Dakota. Canadian chairman of the six-man commission, Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton said that if the three governments approve the proposal it will be forwarded to the two federal governments for action.

In effect, the proposals would lessen restrictions on Saskatchewan in making use of the Souris River water, and would maintain guarantees of regulated flow of water into Manitoba.

Gen. McNaughton said the recommendations likely would prove "a very useful step" in meeting the rapidly mounting needs for water in southeastern Saskatchewan. —The Mercury, Estevan, Sask., October 10, 1957.

Council of Women work for Milk Fund

Close to 100 women—members of the Local Council of Women and its federated societies—participated in a house-to-house canvass, in a project aimed at raising funds for supplying milk to local needy families.

This project has been carried out annually by the LCW for the past 25 years and the committee in charge hopes this year's canvass will net in the neighborhood of $800, in order that it may financially underwrite the needed milk supply for the next 12 months. Last year's fund-raising drive brought in $744.

In order that the public, which is being asked to lend support to the project, may know where the money goes, canvass chairman, Mrs. C. W. Kruse said that during 1956-57, the money raised in last fall's canvass supplied milk in a beneficial way to 34 families having 86 children. The milk was the only source of supply for most of them, and supplemented the diet of the remaining children.

The milk was supplied, Mrs. Kruse said, to eight months of the year—October to May. In addition, six other families were supplied with milk the year round. These milk-supply cases, Mrs. Kruse said, are thoroughly investigated by Public Health Nurse Velma McLean, and she must recommend the supply before it is approved.

Every cent raised in the canvass is used for the purpose of supplying milk to needed children, Mrs. Kruse emphasized. "It comes from the people of Swift Current," she said, "and it goes to work here."

Fish hatchery at Fort Qu'Appelle.

New Fort Qu'Appelle fish hatchery completed

Hon. A. G. Kuziak, Saskatchewan's Minister of Natural Resources, announced that the new fish hatchery at Fort Qu'Appelle has now been completed and will begin operation this fall.

He said the hatchery, one of the most modern in Canada, was built by the Department of Public Works and replaces the old hatchery built at Fort Qu'Appelle in 1913.

This new fish culture station will make it possible for the Fisheries Branch to expand its program, to better able to meet the increasing demands of sport fishermen.

A. H. MacDonald, Provincial Director of Fisheries, and that fishing as a recreation has become increasingly important to the province. In 1956-57 approximately 92,000 angling licenses were sold with total revenue from sales amounting to $123,000. In 1944-45 total number of licenses sold was 7,000, and the total value of revenue from sales of licenses was $9,058.00.

The new fish culture station has a capacity to handle one million trout eggs, 70 million pickerel eggs and 22 million whitefish eggs. At the new hatchery three fry tanks are located outside. There are 360 square feet of trout troughs.

Capacity of the old building was 100,000 trout eggs, 35,000,000 pickerel eggs and 10,000,000 whitefish eggs. The old hatchery has only one fry tank and 144 square feet of trout troughs.

Manager of the new hatchery will be J. R. Marchinko, who has been in charge of the Fisheries Branch since 1947.

Mr. MacDonald said it is proposed to build rearing facilities to permit raising of game trout and grayling to a larger size. Six concrete raceways and two concrete ponds are planned for next year. In long-range planning, it is proposed to double this rearing capacity.

The new hatchery is equipped to handle all demands of the varied types of fishing carried on in the province. The old hatchery was operated primarily for the hatching of whitefish eggs.

The branch will operate a spawn camp this fall on the River for the collection of brook trout eggs. This will be the first hatchery project of the new station. Hatching of pickers and some game trout is being planned for next year, Mr. MacDonald stated.

It is planned to add a new biologist to the Fisheries Branch staff to study the hatching and stocking program, and to determine the effect of stocking throughout the province. It is considered that it may not be necessary to continue giving hatchery support in certain areas where spawning facilities are adequate. This will make it possible for the staff to concentrate its efforts in areas where hatchery support is needed.

Mr. MacDonald said research, conducted on the value of hatcheries in fisheries management, has proven that functions of hatcheries are somewhat limited in maintaining a fish population. In general, if the environment for fish is maintained, fish will produce, under normal conditions, more than sufficient to maintain themselves.

However, Mr. MacDonald pointed out, with increasing industrialization and pressure, it is necessary to use hatcheries for the necessary purposes.

1. Stocking waters devoid of fish.
2. Introducing new and exotic species.
3. Stocking waters that have been winter-killed or where spawning conditions are inadequate.
4. Carrying out experimental projects.
5. Stocking fish (principally in streams) where the annual harvest is greater than the annual increment.

Approved oil burners may be resold

Saskatchewan householders can now sell their used oil fired furnaces providing the burner or the furnace bears a recognized testing laboratory approval label, Hon. C. Williams, Minister of Labour, and Minister in Charge of the Fire Prevention Act, said.

In making the announcement, Mr. Williams said the original intent of the law which governs sale of oil fired furnaces was to set a minimum standard which would govern the construction of new oil fired furnaces being offered for sale in Saskatchewan. In some past households have had no better experience with certain oil fired furnaces because of the use of inferior metals and poor design in the manufacture of these furnaces which were installed in their homes by a heating contractor.

"Today many householders are desirous of using gas as a fuel; therefore they want to substitute a gas fired furnace for an oil fired one. In most instances these second-hand oil fired furnaces are in good condition and will provide many years of reasonably safe service. The householder is therefore reluctant to scrap his oil fired furnace when he can realize cash which can be applied to a new gas installation," Mr. Williams said.

He warned anyone about to buy a second-hand furnace to make sure that it is in a good safe condition.

"What appears to be a bargain could very well turn out to be a costly investment and I would like to suggest that prospective purchasers consult a licensed installer regarding the condition of the furnace and component parts before making their final purchase."

He reminded householders that all oil-fired heater installations must be made by a licensed installer who must first obtain a permit for the installation from the local fire chief or secretary-treasurer.

"For the sake of your pocketbook, and what is more important, for the sake of your life and your family's lives please be careful when purchasing a second-hand oil fired furnace. Remember always to look for the approved label either on the burner or the furnace," Mr. Williams said.

Using infirmaries at Bethany Home

Chronically-ill aged persons now are being treated in the infirmaries at Bethany Hospital, the Evangelical Lutheran Church's new addition to their local Bethany Home for the aged.

The east wing of the new 50-bed, $310,000.00 structure has been completed, and now contains 10 patients, six of whom were formerly treated in the Bethany Home next door.

The building's throughout reflects ideal conditions for the treatment of chronic cases. To the right of the main entrance is a spacious sun room, as yet uncompleted, with huge windows looking over the pleasant surroundings outdoors. For the patients desiring an airing, there is a pleasant screened porch with comfortable upholstered furniture. The broad corridors are lined with handrails for the more active patients' use. Even these passages impart to the visitor the airiness and cheerfulness more evident in the rooms.—The Canadian, Camrose, Alta., September 18, 1957.

What's a farmer?

Well, that depends entirely on where you stand:

To his wife, he's a big eater, a heavy sleeper and a worry.

To his minister, he's a believer in God in nature, and nature in God.

To a politician, he's a someone you talk about during elections.

To a businessman, he's a customer.

To a banker, he's a depositor.

To his neighbors, he's a friend.

To his children, he's a man who always has a chore for them.

To his dog, he's a man with a quiet voice.

To the grocer, he's a God-send.

To the dairy operator, he's a name on a milk cheque.

To the insurance agent, he's a big risk.

To the mechanic, he's a mechanical wizard who fixes things himself.

To the doctor, he's a physical wonder.

And to himself, well, only he can tell you that—but chances are, he won't.

OLDER WORKERS

Few of our prejudices are as socially wasteful as that which operates against employment of older workers. It has become increasingly clear in recent years that many of our ideas on this subject will have to go by the board if our living standards are to keep on rising.

FRIENDS, NEIGHBORS RALLY—More than 50 friends, neighbors and fellow potato workers rallied to the aid of Mrs. Colin Ashton, whose husband was accidentally killed last week while at work in a potato field on the farm of Eldon McEachern. They all joined in when Mr. McEachern called a bee to harvest a six-acre field of turnips Mr. Ashton had on his farm four miles east of Carman. In

Students star in Prevention Week fire drill

Seaford pupils can move in a hurry when they want to, recent fire drills conducted at the three local schools revealed.

At the public school, 341 pupils cleared the school in 45 seconds. High school pupils were a little slower, 330 pupils taking 55 seconds. The 140 pupils at the Separate schools were out of the building in 40 seconds.

The tests were conducted by Fire Chief John P. Scott, who said that Seaford and district schools were found to be in good condition from a fire hazard standpoint. He had just completed an examination of schools in the Seaford fire area in connection with Fire Prevention Week.

Pupils in the schools completed a questionnaire concerning the condition of their homes. This was expected to result in improved conditions in the homes, the Chief said.

Conditions of basements along Seaford Main Street were much improved over previous inspections. While there continued to be several places where co-operation was lacking, the whole district was in good shape. In one or two cases it would be necessary to take legal action to bring premises up to standard, and this was being done, Chief Scott said.—The Huron Examiner, Seaford, Ont., October 25, 1967.

Swift Current TV station ready in Nov.

Latest information received over the weekend reveals the fact that the Swift Current TV station CFTV-TV will be ready to operate by the end of November. Whether or not it will be ready for the Grey Cup Game on November 24th depends on what progress can be made.

The tower is now enroute and its erection is expected to commence this week. The transmitter, the first to be manufactured in Canada, will leave Canadian General Electric's Toronto plant on October 23.

Arrangements have been completed whereby CFTV-TV will be affiliated with the CBC network and will carry most of the network programmes. In addition to the best of the network shows, the station will carry an interesting programme of films and other top-notch television features.

According to the number of antennas appearing on the business places and private homes several sets have now been installed in Gull Lake. Reception is reported from the Medicine Hat TV station but this is far from satisfactory.—The Advance, Gull Lake, Sask., October 24, 1967.

New bank building opened at Herbert

The new Bank of Montreal building at Herbert opened two months ago elicits admiring comment from all who enter it.

From the managerial office of the quite-friendly Charlie Cuthbert right down to the basement showers for the staff, the building is as modern as tomorrow; as a matter of fact it was designed to accommodate a larger staff and an increased volume of business which, no doubt, will be forthcoming as Herbert, already a highly favored shopping centre continues to grow.

With the groundwork for a more extensive irrigation scheme presently laid, with rich grain-growing areas surrounding it, with widely-known ranches to the north from which train-loads of cattle move annually, Herbert seems destined to grow. The Bank of Montreal has geared its local outfit to assure efficient service in an era of expansion.—The Herald, Herbert, Sask., Oct. 24, 1967.

NEIGHBORLY NEWS

A CBC program aired every Sunday morning At 10:00 Central Time

PREPARED BY C. F. GREENE

NOVEMBER 3, 1967

Good morning, neighbors: Apart from celebrities, relatively few people can claim to be home towns — states the Indian Head News, Saskatchewan. John Ryhorchuk of Saskatoon, however, widely known outside their own although just an ordinary person, is so well known that a letter mailed to him from the United States with only his picture on the envelope was delivered without delay. John is so well known because of his family's unusual record. He and his 12 brothers have all worked for the Canadian National Railway in Saskatchewan, missing nearly 400 years of service between them. This unique railway record gained a place in Ripley's famous cartoon feature, "Believe it or Not," with a picture of John heading the list.

When the cartoon appeared in various newspapers, a Bedford, Nova Scotia, man decided to write John Ryhorchuk a letter. He put no address on the picture from the cartoon. John received it a couple of days later.

A call sent out for neighborly help was quickly and adequately responded to in the Carman district, Man. We see by the Dufferin Review that over 50 friends and neighbors rallied to the aid of Mrs. Colin Ashton, whose husband was accidentally killed two weeks ago while at work in a potato field on the farm of Eldon McEachern. They all joined in when Mr. McEachern called a bee to harvest a six-acre field of turnips on the Ashton farm. In a day and a half, all the turnips had been dug, trimmed, bagged, loaded and placed in cold storage for later sale on the Winnipeg market.

And speaking of turnips—this season's biggest has gone up one pound—the Coronation Review, Alberta, reporting that Mrs. Theresa, United of Lake Thelma district brought in to the Review office a whopping 25 pound turnip, which is now on display there.

Displayed on the front page of the Robin Review is a photo of a horse believed to be the oldest in Canada. His name is Mack—was 40 years old last June. Mack belongs to Robert Arnott, of Robin and was raised from a colt on the Arnott farm. He was used as a work horse in the fields until 1945, when a tractor freed him from this work. Mr. Arnott still uses him for light work around the farm.

Neighbor Arnott must be very proud of that lovable old horse—and, according to the Meadow Lake Progress, Sask.—no doubt Mrs. J. Fitzell of the Four Corners district, thinks her dog is almost worth his weight in gold—recently he came home carrying her wrist watch, which she had lost in the strawberry patch early in the summer.

The Carrot River Observer, Sask., calls attention to what it considers an unusual dog. It states: "While on a turkey shoot, in the Beatty district, Harold Plain's six month-old bird dog, 'Lady,' brought in sixty ducks. Lady only missed one bird; we think this is somewhat of a record as it is her first season of hunting."

We must, however, release the names of these good neighbors recently celebrating birthday anniversaries in the gay-ninety class—Mrs. Alice Scott of Nipawin, 94—Mrs. Robert Clegg of the Kenilworth district, Man., 90—Ed Hutchinson of Brandon, Man., 91—Axel Selin of the East Hay district, Alta., 92—George Blackwell of Nipawin, Sask., 93—John Saworsky of Rosthern, Sask., 94—and with the most candles on the birthday cake, A. J. Adams of Melfort, Sask., 96, last Thursday.

Coming back to the hunting scene, the Delisle Advertiser, Sask., reports that Lorne Campbell of the Vanocoy district, got some prairie chickens and on his return home, he left them in his shed one and one-half days all the turnips had been dug, trimmed, bagged, loaded and placed in cold storage for later sale on the Winnipeg market. The following districts were represented by the workers: Homewood, Brigden, Boyne, Sperling, Forest, Carman, Garnett and Grayville.

—The Dufferin Leader, Carman, Man.

They disappeared. On Saturday he got another bird, and thinking the village cats were responsible, he put it in a pall and hung the pall on a nail. Having a meeting to attend in the city, Lorne came home rather late at night, and started a striped kitty, who returned the compliment. The kitty then died. The family moved and it was five days before they could return.

Turning to a sweeter subject, the Meadowbrook district correspondent for the Lacombe Globe, Alta., comments: "We 'oldtimers' have at one time and another heard Alberta referred to as a land flowing with milk and honey. Well we know it's a fine place but we aren't so sure its quite that good—but there was a certain spot a little distance south of here that was really flowing with milk one evening recently when our faithful milkman had the mischance to have a bit of an 'upset'—and the land did have milk flowing around for a while. We are glad to report the driver wasn't injured seriously and as for the milk—well the cows can produce more.

Producing an unexpected answer was the chap referred to in the Portage la Prairie Enterprise, Man., which states: When it comes to islands you've got to hand it to Joe Thorsteinson. At the official opening of Northland

Shown here is a small group of men, all friends of Colin Ashton, who lost his life in a tragic farm accident October 16, as they trim and bag turnips during a work bee held Monday and Tuesday morning at the Ashton farm.

TWO HAPPY HUNTERS pose with part of their bag of geese taken during a recent hunt in east-central Saskatchewan's Cumberland House region. They are Dr. D. McElroy, Winnipeg, Man., and Dr. W. McElroy, Hot Springs, Arkansas. The two also bagged a moose on their Cumberland hunt.

Bus change schedule

A major change in bus schedules in the Prince Albert, Nipawin, Saskatoon and Regina areas, effective November 3, was announced today by W. W. Flynn, general manager of the Saskatchewan Transportation Company.

Buses will leave Nipawin at 7:00 a.m. instead of the previous time of 12:45 p.m. and will provide direct service to Prince Albert, Saskatoon and Regina.

Main advantage of this change, according to Mr. Flynn, is to allow people to return home more quickly when business appointments are of short duration.

"With one over-night stop a person will have more than 24 hours in any of the three cities in which to carry out his business. Previously if a business appointment was of any length it meant a stay of two nights because of the late hour of arriving and early hour of leaving in the morning," Mr. Flynn said.

Another special feature of the schedule change is that all towns and villages from Melfort to Watson and from Kelvington to Watson will have a daily direct service to either Saskatoon or Regina. (Effective with the schedule change the STC is extending its service to Kelvington which previously ran only to Wadena).

"Another outstanding point of the new schedule is that it will be easier to take advantage of the mid-week excursion and it will also provide a better package express service to villages and towns along the routes," Mr. Flynn said.

Among cities, villages and towns affected by the change are: Prince Albert, Saskatoon, Regina, Nipawin, Codette, Pontras, Tisdale, Star City, Melfort, Wilton Park, Flanaganville, Lac Vert, Nacamp, Spalding, Wadena, Quill Lake, Lake, Wadena, Kelvington and others.

INDIAN TREATMENT

There is nothing at all in the record of the people of Canada and the United States in dealing with the Indian population of which we have any reason to be proud. Certainly we cannot hold up our "integration" of the Indian into the life of the country as a model for other countries.

He could not focus the orange fire-ball in his telescope, but with his naked eye, he saw it pass from the southwest to the north in about two minutes time. Mr. Thomas spends considerable time studying the new experiment as well as other science.

He has a microscope as well as a telescope.

Prowse Issues Clarion Call To Lib. Meet Next Month

Liberal Leader J. Harper Prowse has issued a clarion call to all supporters of the party to appoint delegates and plan attendance at the annual convention, Dec. 6 - 7 in Edmonton.

Described by Mr. Prowse as a "very important meeting," the convention will formulate a plan of action which it is hoped will carry the Liberals back to prominence in both the provincial and federal fields.

"We are of the opinion that a federal and a provincial election will be held within the next two years and there is little enough time to acquaint the electorate with our platform," Mr. Prowse said.

Each provincial constituency is entitled to 10 delegates. It is the duty of the constituency association to appoint these delegates and issue credentials.

Said Mr. Prowse: "I should like to point out, too, that it is not necessary to be an official delegate to attend the conventions of the Alberta Liberal Association. Any Liberal is welcome to attend and participate in all the discussions. Credentials are only necessary for voting purposes."

The president has asked all supporters who seek information to contact either Mrs. Joan Warham, secretary, or J. P. Connors, membership convenor, at the office of the Alberta Liberal Association, 10028 - 102 St., Edmonton.

New Appointment To Board of Gas Utilities

F. Clarence "Clar" Manning, president of the Calgary Exhibition and Stampede, and a leading Calgary businessman, has been appointed to the board of directors of Canadian Western Natural Gas Company Limited, D. K. Forth, president, announced last Wednesday following a meeting of the board of directors.

Mr. Manning is president of Manning-Egerton Lumber Company Limited, a director of Royapite Oil Co. Ltd., Inland Cement Co. Ltd., and Grouped Income Shares Ltd. He is also a member of the Calgary advisory board of the Canada Trust Company. Mr. Manning is a past president of the National Retail Lumberman's Council of Canada.

He is best known, perhaps, for his association with the Calgary Exhibition and Stampede, which has extended over a 30-year period. He became an associate director in 1931, a director in 1940. He was vice-president from 1954 to 1956. He is president of the Western Canadian Association of Exhibitions.

Born in Revelstoke, B.C., Mr. Manning came to Calgary with his parents in 1909, and has been actively identified with community affairs since his graduation from the University of Alberta. During the war, Mr. Manning served as Commanding Officer of No. 2 and No. 4 Construction and Maintenance Units, R.C.A.F. He was in the service for five and a half years.

they'd be cheaper by the gallon

It costs plenty to raise a family these days. But if your youngsters, like your car, run on gasoline you'd be better off.

Want to know why? Today everything costs more, including the scores of things a growing family needs. Gasoline costs more, too.

But government figures show that since 1939 the cost of living has gone up more than 120 percent while wholesale gasoline prices have risen about 40 percent—less than a third as much.

And what's more—today's regular gasolines are far superior to the premium grades sold only ten years ago.

CHILD ADOPTION IN ALBERTA

The CHILD WELFARE ACT provides for, and controls, the CHILD WELFARE BRANCH of the Department of Public Welfare. This branch of the Alberta Government is responsible for any adoption of any child in this Province.

In order to ensure that unsuitable persons do not become involved in dealing with child adoption the following section of the Act was introduced:

Except on the order of a District Court judge, no parent shall surrender the custody of his child and no person shall accept the custody of that child without having first obtained the approval, in writing, of the child welfare commission; and a surrender without such approval is null and void.

HOMES FOR CARE OF DEPENDENT CHILDREN

All homes for dependent children are authorized and maintained by the Child Welfare Branch under the Act. To these homes come children whose parents are incapable of caring for them properly and those children who have been abandoned or mistreated.

APPLICATIONS FOR ADOPTION

Adoption applications made by prospective parents are assigned to the HOME INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE. This committee, after a thorough examination of the applicants and their home, pass the application on, if acceptable, to the PLACEMENT DIVISION. The prospective parents then discuss with this branch the individual children available for adoption and a particular child in their home.

IT TAKES TIME

Due to the splendid response to adoption in Alberta, approved applications now accumulate more quickly than children become available for adoption. This coupled with the care that must be taken before placing a child, creates a waiting period that of first may seem unreasonable to the adopting parents. However, the decision to adopt a child is never made in haste nor is the adoption speeded unnecessarily for any risky conclusion.

PROBATIONARY PERIOD

Because of the great care taken in pre-adoptive planning, reconsideration of a child placement is extremely rare. A one year period is however, provided by the Act to insure that there is complete adjustment of the parents and the child in their new life together.

DISTRICT COURT MAKES ADOPTION FINAL

The new parents make petition to the District Court for legal adoption papers. This petition along with a full recommendation by the Child Welfare Commission is considered by the District Court Judge before a legal adoption order is issued. The child, to all intents and purposes, is legally a child of the new parents. A new birth certificate is issued and all records pertaining to the adoption are placed in a sealed pocket.

FOSTER HOMES

Private homes, voluntarily contributed, for the care of children are always in demand. If the child is not adopted, a good foster home will provide the love and understanding so necessary to his development.

Rural municipalities in the area affected will construct the roads and look after all maintenance.

The roads will run through Rural Municipalities 154, 156, 158, 187, 248, 439, 460, 469, 489, 398.

The construction of the roads, many of them which are of vital importance as part of the grid pattern, will be necessary to give full effect to the objectives of the Main Market Grid system, Mr. McIntosh said.

Loewen proposes city bus route

A proposal for a city bus system was made to City Council last week. Frank Loewen appeared at the meeting with the request that Council members grant him franchise for a bus company within city limits.

Council was unable to give a reply because no rate or schedule were submitted to them. Flanked by lawyer James L. King, who advised him, Mr. Loewen said he wanted the consent of Council in principle. Council members refused to be argued into the idea.

As individuals, the City Council admitted the necessity for a bus service, but pointed out to Mr. Loewen that an outline in detail should be presented for their scrutiny before any answer could be given.

The main need for a bus service was for school children living in East Whitehorse, Council agreed. Mr. Loewen specifically mentioned the lack of transportation for these youngsters. His remarks were later underlined by his lawyer when Mr. King rose to address Council members.

The next move for a city transit system is now up to Mr. Loewen, who must submit details of his proposal to Council. — The Star, Whitehorse, Yukon, Sept. 19, 1957.

Better use of land, stabilized agriculture aim Lands Branch

A large acreage of public grazing lands has always been available to farmers and ranchers under long-term leases from the Saskatchewan Department of Agriculture, but in 1957 the acreage increased to an all-time high of more than 7 1/2 million acres.

A. M. Thomson, director of the department's Lands Branch said these public grazing lands comprise approximately 36 percent of lands used by farmers and ranchers in the province suited only to grazing. More than 5 1/2 million acres are included in individual farms and ranches under leases, giving long-term security of tenure at low rental rates. The rental is based on livestock prices and productivity, or carrying capacity of land, assuring the stockman as fair a deal as possible.

Just over one million acres of the lands are entirely live-stock production units. The majority of these ranches have been established for 50 years or more and some are still operated by descendants of original Saskatchewan ranchers. About 4 1/2 million acres are included in 9,000 mixed farm units where the crown land pasture makes an important contribution to the stabilization of the unit concerned, and agriculture generally.

The acreage of Saskatchewan public grazing lands in long-term leases to farmers has been increased to an all-time high during the past ten years, during which time most of the former leaseholders, in addition to new leasees, have received 33-year renewals.

Under existing policies leasees have the right to improve ranges by installing fences and watering facilities. They may also regrade without incurring extra rental because of increasing carrying capacity or harvesting grain crops grown while preparing land for reseeding. This allows the man who leases grazing land from the department to obtain pasture as economically as the man who owns it. The leasee has an equity in improvements and is entitled to receive compensation for them if and when his lease is terminated.

In addition to grazing lands service provided for individuals who lease from the department, an extensive service is provided through the community pasture program. Through community pasture programs, the department has made much progress toward fuller use and conservation of grazing lands in the province over the past 20 years. At the moment the department operates and is still improving 17 community pastures, and has transferred or leased approximately 1 1/2 million acres to PFRA, which makes up 97 percent of the acreage in 54 PFRA pastures in Saskatchewan.

Another important aspect of the department's pasture improvement program in Saskatchewan is the leasing of 416,797 acres to co-operatives. At present 81 cooperatives, organized by stockmen to provide better grazing and facilities, are in operation, giving satisfaction to many who would otherwise be short of pasture. In addition, seven rural municipalities rent 37,338 acres on which to build improved pastures.

The department's community pastures have been established in areas where other agencies were not interested in doing so. In 1957 a total of 18,000 head of cattle were owned by 900 farmers, were carried in the 17 community pastures operated by the department. This figure includes 6,500 breeding cows, serviced by 223 registered sires of better than average type.

During the past season cattle made very satisfactory progress. This service is maintaining and improving the type of beef cattle kept by farmer patrons.

Spraying for warble and horn flies, vaccinating for blackleg and Brucellosis along with branding and use of special breeding pastures are some of the facilities provided for pasture patrons.

Mr. Thomson stressed the careful selection of bulls for provincial community pastures. All breeding sires used must meet requirements and many are Grade "A" animals purchased at bull sales.

In one of the provincial community pastures steers marketed on August 27 brought good returns after having been given a supplementary grain ration in a self-feeder while on pasture. This is the first time such a project has been tried in a provincial pasture, but it would appear greater use of the practice is warranted.

Experience gained through 20 years of community pasture activity indicates that the limit in community pasture expansion has not been reached. The Royal Commission on Agriculture and Rural Life in its Land Tenure Report recommended increased attention be given to establishment of community pastures to serve new settlement areas in the province and in other areas where community pastures would supplement the resources of family farms.

More than 1 million acres of former privately owned land has been acquired through the Land Utilization Board, which was set up to assign land acquired by the board to the use to which it was best suited. Most of these lands had been cultivated and found unsuited to grain growing. They are now used for grazing in community pastures and leases.

Community pasture improvement projects being carried out by the department include reclaiming lands by regrading, constructing fences and corrals, and installing watering facilities. Work is being done in widely separated parts of the province where conditions and pasture requirements vary greatly.

Mr. Thomson pointed out that the result of all of the department's pasture improvement activities had been better land use, and of even greater importance, supplementary income to farmer patrons. Often the extra income made possible by well-managed pastures sustained farmers who otherwise would have been in difficult financial circumstances.

The department tries to promote good livestock management by patrons and requires farmers who use pasture facilities to put up adequate supplies of winter feed.

The department considers its outstanding achievements so far in community pasture development are the Mortlach and Lake Four Projects. The Mortlach pasture in the RM of Wheatlands contains 2,200 acres of fully reclaimed farm land that was abandoned during the thirties. This area has good fences, corrals and excellent watering facilities that provide for full utilization of the alfalfa, Bromo grass and Crested Wheat Grass which cover the entire pasture.

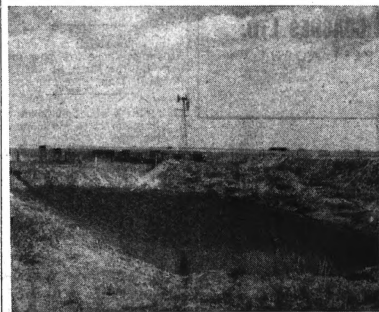

At Lake Four, in a Local Improvement District 20 miles southeast of Big River, a dry lake bed has been converted to a community pasture almost entirely established in Bromo Grass. Formerly this area was of no agricultural use except for wild hay which was of doubtful winter feed value.

Community pasture development work by the department is going forward on new projects this year at Bertwell and Erwood near Hudson Bay, Chagones, southwest of Tisdale and Donlands between Nipawin and Coret, all these projects are in wooded areas where land in its native state is not of much use for grazing. The Bertwell pasture adjoins a new settlement area at Clemenceau. After clearing, breaking and seeding to grass, these areas will provide highly productive pasture in an area where livestock is required in greater numbers for a balanced agricultural economy.

IMPROVE PASTURE LAND at the Val Jean community pasture. On the left is the regraded field, while on the right Snowberry or Buck Brush has choked out a good part of the wild prairie grasses on the Val Jean community pasture project. The field on the left was once farmed.

GOOD WATERING FACILITIES—Cattle in the Mortlach community pasture are provided with excellent watering facilities made up of a fenced dugout, windmill and a large trough.

CATTLE GRAZE CONTENTEDLY on tame grass and alfalfa now growing on land in the Mortlach community pasture. This land was broken and farmed at one time, abandoned and later acquired by the Land Utilization Board. In foreground two government representatives inspect lush growth.

CORRAL FACILITIES speed the job of branding and dehorning each spring at Val Jean community pasture headquarters. Here cattle have been put into chute in preparation for branding.

SQUEEZE GATE—At the headquarters of the Val Jean provincial community pasture, a steer is seen in the headgate just after dehorning. The squeeze gate is also used for branding.

Prices maintained

One of the laws that is not being enforced, perhaps because it is unenforceable, is that which prohibits a manufacturer from maintaining or trying to maintain the resale price of his goods. Some years back the amendment to the Criminal Code that made such price maintenance a crime was forced through Parliament, only after the government of the day, for the first time in history, in war and peace, had parliament in session between Christmas Day and New Year's Day.

Mr. St. Laurent, it is recalled, made a speech in which he intimated mild approval and expressed a pious hope that the cost of living would go down. The cost of living has not gone down, retail prices of manufactured goods are advertised by manufacturers in trams and buses, on the radio, in the newspapers. Manufacturers continue to protect, as they have moral right to do, their trademarks.

The new minister of justice is reported to have ordered a review of the legislation. Proponents of the original change are arguing that a review is unnecessary. They have overlooked a bet. For if the Act is not being enforced and is not enforceable, then it should be repealed. If it is enforceable and is not being enforced, the original vociferous proponents, who now lack a good deal of their former political influence, should be advocating the review that Mr. Fulton seems to want.

—The Printed Word.

Weeds or roadsides!

Many miles of roads in this district could be much improved for winter travel without much trouble. On a drive to Nokomis the night before the storm, a representative of this paper noted a bumper crop of weeds, sweet clover, etc.,—all from two to three feet in height, along the roadside. If municipal equipment is not available, surely farmers in the numerous districts could have this unsightly crop "harvested" right away. —The Manitou, Watrous, Sask.

Canadians' Accent "Most Appealing"

VANCOUVER — Dr. Roger Maxwell, director of the British Film Academy, says the Canadian accent appeals to more listeners in English-speaking countries than any other.

"The Canadian voice is a universal one. It is not distinctly British nor is it American," he said.

Canadian commentators were supplanting British commentators in the British film, television and radio industries. "We're using more Canadians every year."

The CCF Says

Of course there is a market for our farm "surplus." Why can't we sell to it? Because we'd have to buy goods from the countries who want our food, so that they could pay us.

Why can't we do that? Because Canadian big business doesn't want such competition. But we don't elect big business to govern our policies, you say? Don't wait.

Who do you think has made "our" Conservative government already back down on free trade with Britain?
